Welcome to ASPAC'89

On behalf of the administration and faculty of the University of Hawai'i, I welcome you to Honolulu for the 1989 annual conference of Asian Studies on the Pacific Coast. All sessions and other conference activities will be held at the Prince Kuhio Hotel in Waikiki. The single exception to this is the historical Sarsuwela on the Americans in the Philippines entitled "Pilipinas Circa 1907." This event will be held in the Kennedy Theatre on the campus of the University of Hawai'i at Mānoa. Tickets for this event can be reserved at the registration desk for $8.00 per person. Arrangements for getting to and from the University campus will be announced.

In addition to a wide variety of topical panels, the program for this conference contains four panels specifically devoted to the teaching of Asia in the secondary schools. The majority of you are not secondary school teachers, but this is a subject that should interest all of us for it relates to a national need to improve our schools. If you have ideas on this subject please attend some of these sessions and bring forward your thoughts in the discussion that follows the presentation of papers.

Please have a pleasant stay in Hawaii. Enjoy the conference and take some time to enjoy the many other activities available here.
